Dear readers, authors, and colleagues,

In 2019, 734 individuals served as referees for papers submitted to and/or published in the Journal of Mathematical Physics. In addition, 68 referees served two or more times over the course of the year. The Associate Editors and I wish to express our deepest appreciation to the referees for their conscientious efforts on behalf of the journal. Their contributions played critical roles for the journal to publish the best papers in mathematical physics.
